The St. Mary's Hall News-Letter.

Editorial Notes.

We had the pleasure this year of being present at the Old Girls' Week-end at the Hall in July, which was much enjoyed by all. One of the chief topics of conversation was the coming School Centenary (August 1st, 1936). Such an event cannot be prepared for in one year, and all Old Girls are asked now mentally to book the date, so that they may be free to take part in all or part of the probable week of rejoicing at the Hall. The special attention of all Old Girls and members of the S.M.H.A. is called to the notice on page 11, under the heading of "Centenary Preparations."

Miss Ghey is also anxious to have a complete Degree List at the Hall, and Old Girls are also asked to read carefully her request on page 10, under heading of "Degree Lists."

It will be most fitting to have a special Centenary number of the News-Letter with an appropriate cover, and it is suggested that Old Girls might submit designs for a suitable cover for the occasion and that the designs sent in should be judged by the Art Mistress at the Hall. Will any Old Girl, therefore, who has a "brain-wave," kindly send it to the Editor, who will take the matter in hand.

The President's Letter.

ST. MARY'S HALL,

June, 1931.

DEAR MEMBERS OF THE S.M.H.A.,

I write this before I know what guests we shall have the happiness of welcoming at the end of July, but with great hopes that it may be a record gathering. We shall have a great deal to talk about, for the Centenary approaches, and the Centenary Fund is opened: everybody will be certain to be full of ideas about that. There is news on a later page about this Fund and all that we hope for. Hebbert House is almost full, and our numbers are 256 this term. The new Debentures were all subscribed in record time; you will know how thankful we all are to everyone who helped. Hebbert House is nearly full and very beautiful, and the Hall has more space at last.

We have had a wonderfully happy year, brightened by many visits from Old Girls, and countless welcome letters. Our Chairman (Colonel Elliott) is spending a year or more in India and we miss him dreadfully; but Lady Barrett-Lennard, as Deputy-Chairman, is unsparing (as always) of time and care, and is an untold help and support to us. I feel that we have four or five years of pretty steady work in front of us, and that then we may hope to see the old School thoroughly established for all time in adequate quarters.

The knowledge that the Association is always there, a steady band of friends and well-wishers, is a rock under our feet; and I do thank you for your visits and letters and messages. They often bring unexpected cheer to a tough day, or added light to a bright one. With love and greetings to you all,

Yours affectionately,

P.S.—I want to thank all who came to the Week-end for their delightful presence, and for the lovely letters which reached me afterwards.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The 25th Annual Meeting of the St. Mary's Hall Association took place at Peter Jones' Restaurant, Sloane Square, on Saturday, January 9th.

At 2.15 p.m. a short Committee Meeting was held at which the Agenda for the General Meeting was arranged: Miss Ghey taking the chair. There were present—Mrs. Coad, Mrs. Cunnew, Mrs. Hakim, M. Brocklehurst and W. Hopley.

The General Meeting followed, Miss Ghey presiding. After the opening prayer, the Chairman suggested that the Minutes be taken as read, as they had already been seen in the News-Letter: this was agreed to, and they were duly signed.

Apologies and messages of good wishes were given and a letter was then read by Miss Ghey from the oldest living pupil of St. Mary's Hall, of 100 years of age, Mrs. Baker, and her daughter. Miss Ghey spoke of the marriage—about to take place—of Beatrix Saunders, suggesting that the meeting should send good wishes and the Secretary write a letter conveying this, which was agreed to.

The Treasurer's Report.—The Secretary read a letter from Mrs. Macfarlane of regret for unavoidable absence, saying she had nothing to report: the Balance Sheet was published in the News-Letter. She commented on the small number of those joining the Association in 1931.

The Secretary's Report.—The Secretary said she had nothing to report save the disappointing breakdown of the Week-end at the Hall owing to the few that found themselves able to accept Miss Ghey's invitation. Miss Ghey then explained that it did not seem fair to keep the household going for so few a number.

London Secretary's Report.—Miss H. Potter gave a brief account of the summer meeting to which all Old Girls were welcome—though M. Ostle was no longer at the Froebel office, her successor would kindly allow them to use the room as before and do all she could to make them welcome. She thought it would be useful for the Secretary to have the list of those who were leaving each year, and that there should be one of a younger generation as well as the older to take office.

Report of Editor of "News-Letter."—Mrs. Cunnew said she had nothing further to say than to ask for the details of any addresses and occupations that could be given. Miss Ghey said she wished to congratulate the Editor: the News-Letter had given great pleasure, she had heard this from several.

Election of Officers: Treasurer.—E. Hopley proposed Mrs. Macfarlane be re-elected, Mrs. Cunnew seconded, and it was carried unanimously.

Mrs. Langdale Smith proposed that the rest of the Officers and Committee be elected en bloc; D. Gayer seconded this, and it was carried unanimously.

For the London Branch M. Brocklehurst and L. Coe were elected as joint helpers.

Miss Ghey reported on the Hall's progress and of the New House and that the numbers keep up, but that the times were difficult and money scarce. She reminded the meeting of the approaching Centenary in 1936 (August 1st), when all (she hoped) would assemble; of the necessity for collecting a comprehensive Honours list; that there must be records and inscriptions of people to whom the School owes gratitude; that the history of the Houses must be recorded. She announced that the money for Hebbert House had all come in marvellously—£6,500.

Present at the General Meeting, January, 1932:—Miss Ghey, Miss Galton, Miss F. E. Smith, Miss Bolton, Miss H. Potter, Miss Perry, Miss Atkinson; Mrs. Allnutt, M. Brocklehurst, Mrs. Cunnew (A. Oliphant), D. Cross, M. Duffield-Harding, Mrs. Hakim (E. Capern), E. Hopley, W. Hopley, M. Howard, Mrs. Harwood (M. Hall), Mrs. Langdale-Smith (Ev. Snowdon Smith), Mrs. Mead (A. Law), M. ## S.M.H.A. (LONDON BRANCH).

The 1932 summer meeting of the London Branch was, by the kind invitation of Mrs. Allnutt (May Watson) held, as usual, at 4, Bloomsbury Square on the afternoon of Saturday, 11th June. Although Mary Ostle has now resigned the Secretaryship of the Froebel Society, the Council continues to allow us the use of its rooms. This boon we much appreciate, Bloomsbury Square being so conveniently central.

Happily, Miss Ghey was able to come, and the other eighteen present in addition to our hostess were :—Mrs. Coad (B. Binns), Mrs. Cooke (A. Stanley), Miss M. Brocklehurst (Joint Hon. Secretary) and the Misses G. Bardsley, G. Batson, L. Clarke, E. Cumming, M. Dallimore, A. Eacott, E. Gillett, M. Lloyd, M. G. Ostle, G. and L. Raynor, F. E. Smith, K. Stanley, A. S. Webster and H. R. Potter (Joint Hon. Secretary).

Our proceedings were, as always on this afternoon, quite informal, but thanks were expressed to Mrs. Allnutt for her kind hospitality, to Miss Ghey for coming up to preside, and to the joint Hon. Secretaries.

The modification made a year ago in the rules of the Branch tends to increase each year the cost of postage and stationery for the sending out of invitations. The balance in hand at the Meeting was thus found to be only 5s. 1½d., and a "tea-cosy" collection made towards the end of the meeting added 13/6 to that sum, leaving 14s. 8½d. in hand towards the expenses of next year's meeting.

Old girls may perhaps be reminded that any old girl, whether or no she belongs to the S.M.H.A., or actually lives in or near London, can have an invitation to the Summer meeting of the London Branch if her name and address are made known before the annual June meeting to the Hon. Secretary. There is no subscription, and a hostess for the afternoon has always, so far, been forthcoming from among old girls or other friends of the Hall. As need arises, a collection, limited to small contributions, is made at the meeting towards the cost of sending out invitations.

Is it too early to say that the London Branch would welcome any offer of hospitality for its next June meeting? The only expense at the Froebel Society's rooms is a small payment to the housekeeper for clearing up when all is over.

HELEN R. POTTER,
MARJORIE BROCKLEHURST,

S.M.H.A. WEEK-END AT THE HALL.

By Miss Ghey's kind invitation a week-end was made possible at the Hall this year from Friday, July 29th, till Tuesday, August 2nd.

Those present for all or part time were:—A. Ashwin, A. Baron, H. Bagley, G. Batson, W. Batson, E. M. W. Bardsley, R. N. Bennett, Miss Bolton, N. Boulton, J. H. Bowes, Mrs. Coad (B. Binns), L. Coe, Mrs. Clarke (M. Millard), L. Clarke, M. Collisson, D. Cross, Mrs. Cunnew (A. Oliphant), M. Dallimore, K. Darby, N. Howe, M. Evans, J. Goodchild, Miss Galton, E. Hanham, M. Heelas, D. Heelas, E. Hopley, W. Hopley, M. G. Lloyd, Mrs. Neligan (J. Cockell), Mrs. Macfarlane, Miss Miles, M. Paterson, L. Raynor, Mrs. Sturdy (J. Cribb), Miss E. M. Smith, W. Owen Smith, J. Thompson, L. L. Watson.

Miss Ghey—as ever—gave us that warm welcome which makes us feel the sun is shining, whether it is or not, and just makes all the difference. Many sent us such hearty messages with their regrets for absence, that we were surrounded with happy thoughts. There is always the thrill of adventure each time: who will be there?—and for some of us the bridging long years that have passed since we did all those impressive things as sleeping in a dormitory, acting as prefect, attaining to a scholarship, or being head girl. How lovely to go back and live it all over again!

Miss Ghey's heart must be large indeed, for she seems always to give a place also to us of the older dispensation, in spite of the large and increasing family more closely related to her. I wonder if she knows how we appreciate it all?

On Saturday we had a merry evening and gave ourselves over to playing various games and to dancing. The dignity of the Elliott Hall must have been gravely disturbed at the sound of exploding paper bags and at beholding the Staff, past and present, engaged in competitions.

Sunday afternoon brought us again to that ever-fascinating pastime of recalling—through those who will tell—the early days and doings of the School in its infancy. The most delightful little pictures were given us through Miss Bagley and others (see page 9) of the School thirty years before Miss Birrell's time, under Miss Newport.

In the evening we were charmed with song and recitation by M. Collisson and N. Howe; later we sang evening hymns and ended with prayers. Miss Galton, L. Clarke and M. Heelas gave us delightful treats on the pianoforte.

Monday night, while some went to a performance, given by D'Oyley Carte, of "The Gondoliers," some joined a party playing hide-and-seek, and another party went down into the Town to see the illuminations. Bathing and tennis were fitted in at all times.

This was the first week-end that both a mother and daughter, both old girls, were present: Mrs. Clarke (M. Millard) and her daughter, Lydia.

To Miss Ghey and to her household we record our thanks for delightful memories of the dear old Hall, and for a most enjoyable week-end.

REMINISCENCES TOLD AT OLD GIRLS WEEK-END BY:—

(a) MISS BAGLEY.

When I first came in 1869 there was only the main building, with no West wing at all. There was no East wing, of course, and the only school-room we had was half of your present room, which is now divided into a class room, a sitting room and something else, and the something else in my day were music rooms.

Eight classes took place in the middle school-room at the same time, and consisted of about 100 girls. Sometimes it was a great temptation to listen to the next class if one's own was dull. After a few years the west wing was built, and the music rooms were taken away and put over the other side. Most of the dormitories were as they are now, and by degrees it got less cramped. Miss Newport thought it would be an excellent idea to get some of the younger girls to do the housework. Things did not go very pleasantly and smoothly, but the girls got some fun out of it.

One afternoon some girls had been sent up to scrub the dormitory. When Miss Newport went up, the floor was not dry. So she got every girl in the house, and they ironed the floor!

Once the Superintendent was called away, and I, being one of the older girls, and a satellite of Miss Newport's, was told that I must go down and see to things. I had no idea what kind of things to order, and told the cook to hash up all the joints. I ordered everything wrong, and got into trouble over it. The Headmistress was overhead to say to another mistress: "Helen Bagley doesn't grasp things, she doesn't grasp things at all."

We were very fortunate in having a delightful set of mistresses. My sister and I had a musical-box, which played two or three pretty tunes, but which, when wound up, would not stop until it was run down. One Scripture class I wound it up just before the lesson, thinking it would finish in time, when I walked Miss Kenyon, who said, "What is the meaning of this?" We had all to stand up when she came in the room, and as soon as possible I sat down on the musical-box. It did not stop, however, and we had to wait until it was finished, and Miss Kenyon was very cross with me indeed.

We used the laundry downstairs for changing our boots, and also on Founder's Day, when we practically lived down there.

The School had been going for 30 years before I went there. Miss Newport, the Headmistress, had been a pupil there. She left for a few years and then returned as a mistress, and rose to be Head. We all loved her; she was absolutely unselfish and lived for the girls, doing everything she could to make the School good.

The laundry was downstairs, and it was just possible that our things were ready at the end of a fortnight down there. The head girls were sent down to sort the clothes. Sometimes one got one's own, but it was a little bit precarious.

Above all, I would like to mention the name of Miss Jennings, a name beloved by hundreds of old girls. Her influence was most extraordinary, and several people really owe everything to her influence and teaching.

We were all clergymen's daughters in those days; as soon as we arrived at the School we had to put on the uniform, which was a dark sort of purple with a black cloak. We also had to wear bonnets and a bonnet cap which fitted close to the head so that our hair should not soil the bonnets.

When I started I came at half-term, and to my surprise I was immediately put into mourning, for that summer the son of the Founder, Julius Elliott, lost his life on the Alps. I had never even heard of him before, but we were all put into black.

We used to go for walks in crocodile fashion. We played cricket and rounders and other games occasionally. About once a year we had a ramble on the Downs, and now and again we walked to Hove or Preston.

On the whole, I loved my school-days, and if I had a chance, I should not mind starting over again.

There used to be a lady who came to give us deportment lessons. I remember we used to have to walk from one end of the room to the other, by ourselves, as if we were going to bow before the Queen. I was very shy and nervous, and used to be sent back two or three times. We did not dance very much, just the Lancers.

There was no sanatorium, but if we felt ill we were sent to the South room, which is now Miss Ghey's sitting room. If anybody had measles, etc., they went into the top East dormitory; the consequence was that when there was an epidemic it spread very rapidly.

I do want to thank Miss Ghey for giving me this opportunity of talking to you all. I hope that one day some of you will come and tell your reminiscences.

(b) FOR MRS. CLARKE (M. MILLARD).

We used to get up every morning at 6.30, and one morning, on April Fool's Day, the bell was rung in every dormitory at 5.30. Everyone got up, and it was never discovered who had rung the bell.

(c) MISS WATSON.

We used to have two basins in our dormitories. They were both filled, one for night and one for morning. They were very particular about our washing.

We used to get up at 6.0 or 6.30 and had an hour to dress. Then we came downstairs and had very long prayers and after that, a lecture, so that we all longed for our breakfast. We always had quantities of rhubarb jam. Every morning we had to recite two verses of Scripture. My ambition was to get into Form Six to learn the Articles of Religion.

We always used to get very hungry between dinner and tea. After dinner we went out for two hours and played cricket, etc.; we went in at 4.0 and had lessons until 6.0 o'clock, when we had tea. At the beginning of term we brought back jam and cakes, etc., which we used to distribute amongst our particular friends at meal-times.

In my first term it seemed to me a wonderful thing to ring the big bell, and have everyone rushing round the establishment in answer to it. On my second day I went and rang the bell, and then, being frightened, I hid under a table, and heard everybody running round asking who had rung the bell. I was terrified, and had to come out. My name was then written in a book for taking a liberty.

We used to have to walk up and down the garden in the wet weather so many times. One day some of us got tired and we got into the tank in the garden, which was empty. We forgot all about the time until the bell rang, and then we hoisted each other out of the tank, and by mistake I was left in. I had to call for help and a mistress came and let me out. Next morning at prayers we had a terrible time. Miss Newport told all those who had been in the tank to stand up, and our names were taken. We had to stay in on the half-holidays in May and then we had to write down: "I have worked diligently, I have done my exercises, and I have not talked to my neighbour." These had to be signed by a mistress.

We were all very fond of the Staff. Sometimes on Sundays Miss Newport used to take us out on the Downs, with her pockets full of apples.

It made all the difference to my life, although it was not the school it is now. I often wish it were possible for me to re-visit it oftener, but time flies while I am in Town. My kind regards and wishes for the Hall, may it continue to go on from strength to strength."

MRS. CRISPE (née Joan Hare Duke) writes :—" I manage to play tennis in spite of being the mother of two lads, chief cook, bottlewasher and housemaid, laundress, etc., like so many others who live in the Colonies. Recently I managed to win the Ladies' Singles, Doubles, and Mixed Doubles at the local club's Tournament ; quite a change for me to do some winning, as I'm usually among the ' also rans ' ! My husband and I are both very keen on tennis, and he plays a really good game. We are just regretting that our racquets must be put away now till next season. I'd LOVE to have another glimpse at S.M.H. and be at one of the S.M.H.A. re-unions, but I fear it will be along time before I see England again."

SCHOOL DIARY, 1931-32.

On Saturday, September 27th there was a Concert in Hove Town Hall<sup>1</sup> at which Miss Bingham sang. Twenty Seniors from all Houses had the pleasure of going to hear her.

On Sunday, October 4th, Captain Cannon of the R.S.P.C.A. gave us a talk on dogs and horses. The whole School, including St. Nicholas, was there and thoroughly enjoyed both his talk and his slides.

On Saturday, October 17th, Captain Daintree gave a most thrilling lecture on Life-saving. We were rather clumsy pupils and apt to grasp our patients or victims in the wrong way, but we acquired some exceedingly useful knowledge.

Tuesday, November 3rd (Founder's Day).—See special account.

Saturday, November 7th (Half-Term).—A most enjoyable Fancy Dress Dance was organized.

Monday, November 9th.—In spite of the weather not being too brilliant, the School was able to go to Bodiam Castle and on to Chichester and spent a very pleasant Half-Term Monday.

On Wednesday, November 11th, a big Disarmament Meeting was held in the Dome, attended by over two thousand people. Miss Ghey was in the chair. The speakers were Lord Noel-Buxton and Dr. Rhondda Williams. The Vith were able to attend this meeting. We were much impressed by both speakers and the truth of their arguments urging the need of Disarmament.

On Sunday, November 15th, Miss Walters spoke to the School about the League of Nations. She thoroughly aroused our interest, and that meeting was the beginning of the Junior Branch of the League of Nations Union, which now flourishes at S.M.H. For the first time two girls (feeling very nervous) took the chair and proposed the vote of thanks.

On Saturday, November 21st, we held our usual Bazaar for Home and Foreign Missions, and in spite of "Economic Depression," we did very well. This year the mistresses were good enough to act a short play, "The Bathroom Door." The School thoroughly enjoyed it, their only regret being that most of them saw it only once.

On Sunday, November 22nd, we had a most interesting lecture from Mr. Hind-Smith on Doctor Barnardo's Homes, with some excellent slides to illustrate the marvellous work done by this great organisation.

On Friday, December 11th.—Cadet Entertainment.

On Saturday, December 12th, Miss Ghey, with her unfailing kindness, gave two Christmas parties. The Juniors had theirs in the afternoon and the Seniors in the evening. To our great delight Mr. Bradley Alexander, the conjurer, came. We thought it especially clever and tasteful of him to produce a bouquet for Miss Ghey from a mass of paper streamers.

On Sunday, December 13th, we gave our usual Carol Concert for St. Dunstan's and the Civilian Blind. We were so glad that some of St. Dunstan's men were able to be there. This year we had an additional pleasure because Miss Bingham sang a solo.

On Wednesday, December 16th, the Vith gave an Entertainment and Dance. The School looked kindly on deficiencies, as it had been got up in the space of one day. The proceeds went to the Working Women's College at Surbiton.

On Wednesday, January 27th, owing to the kindness of Ismay Stower's aunt, who gave the School a most beautiful wireless, we were able to listen to the Prince of Wales' appeal to youth for Social Service.

On Saturday, January 30th, Mr. Shephard Walwyn gave an interesting lecture on insects and the way in which they hide themselves. His slides were especially good and we appreciated the cartoon, dating from College days, of himself with butterfly net.

On Saturday, February 6th, Bristol House performed "Mr. Pym passes by." (See special account).

On Saturday, February 13th, Miss Ghey gave a party for Mistresses and Vith Form to celebrate Margaret Gray's scholarship to Newnham. There were most wonderful Progressive Games, for which we were all given prizes. The wide disparity of scores makes us suspect that different methods of scoring were used by different groups, and that even if our group was bottom, it really ought to have been top.

On February 24th we were given a half-holiday to celebrate the end of examinations.

Thursday, February 25th.—Miss Ghey's birthday. Her motto was, "The steeper the hill, the wider the view." In the evening she invited us to a delightful dance.

Saturday, February 27th.—Half-Term.

Monday, February 29th.—Half-Term. Miss Ghey took the Vith by 'bus to Seaford, from where we walked to Alfriston and ate astonishing quantities of bread-and-cheese in the "Star Inn." Then we walked back to Seaford. We all enjoyed it tremendously.

On March 6th, Captain Cannon, of the R.S.P.C.A., was good enough to come again and tell us of the work of the Society and how we could help it by our own treatment of animals.

Saturday, March 19th.—The Old Girls' Match was played. The School won, 6 goals to none.

Saturday, March 26th (Easter Eve).—Two performances of the mystery play, "Thy Kingdom Come."

Easter Day.—We spent the happiest possible Easter at School.

Tuesday, March 29th.—We held our first League of Nations Union meeting. Miss Thorn started the meeting with an excellent speech. Babington, Hebert and Snowdon Smith acted short scenes illustrating the activities of the League.

Saturday, May 11th.—Miss Ghey and the Vith went to London for a special service for schools in St. Mark's, Camberwell, in connection with the U.G.S.M. The Saturday before, the Service of Dedication of the completion of the Church was held. After our own service we had tea in the hall adjoining the Church and then we had the joy of going to see the various halls and club rooms of the parish. We saw the club room of our own Girls' Club; they had just re-decorated it themselves. The visit gave us increased interest in the work of the Mission and we looked forward with even greater pleasure to July 2nd.

Wednesday, May 11th.—Miss Ditmas came to tell the Seniors a little about the openings for girls in various careers. She gave us a great deal of help and patiently answered questions ranging from farming to the foot-lights.

Saturday, June 11th.—The School was able to play its usual Summer Half-Term Tennis Tournament and also to bathe.

Monday, June 13th.—This was voted the best half-term that School has had. Certainly if good weather, lovely country, and bathing count for anything, it would be difficult to beat it.

Friday, June 17th.—This day our first visit—we hope the first of many—from Professor Cock, the distinguished Professor of Education at Southampton University. Starting from examinations, which were uppermost in our minds, he led us on to Aristotle's conception of Perfect Happiness—a long step—and left us there amazed, for he seemed to be able to make us produce all the facts about it by asking the most simple questions. We looked forward keenly to his next visit.

Friday, July 1st.—Miss Gillett and the Cadets invited all the Guides of the School to a Rally. The Guides polished up their badges and turned their attention once more to knots and other such problems, ending with songs.

Saturday, July 2nd.—Now, for the third year, we were able to entertain some of our friends from Camberwell. The weather was fine and we were able to have tea out of doors. We only hope that they enjoyed it as much as we did, and more if it were possible.

Sunday, July 3rd.—Mr. Stephens took evening service here and told us something of the work of the Missions to Seamen. What he said made us all long to give some real help to that great work.

Saturday, July 9th.—The Fathers' Match. The weather was perfect and we had a full team of Fathers. In fact, we had an over-full team, for since there were fourteen Fathers ready to play, we played fourteen a side! As usual, the Fathers won: 102 to 52.

Sunday, July 10th.—Confirmation Sunday was, as always, a very happy day for all.

Wednesday, July 20th.—The Junior House had their Prize-Giving. It was an informal show, but very delightful. The appearance of a small boy amongst the performers on the platform caused a flutter amongst the female audience.

THE MISTRESSES.

At the end of July we said good-bye to these friends of the School:—
Sister Thompson, Sister-in-charge of the Sanatorium (pupil of S.M.H., 1882 to 1887);

Miss P. I. Johnston, Art Mistress since Sept., 1928;

Miss N. Hurtley, Botany and Mathematics, Mistress of Upper IV;

Miss H. Plummer, Scripture and English, Mistress of Upper III;

Miss Berry, Assistant Matron at St. Nicholas;

Miss Holman, Assistant Matron at Hebbert.

While to all these, who have given their very best to the School and will always be gratefully remembered, there are very real thanks to offer, together with all best wishes for their future happiness, special mention must be made of Sister Thompson, who has been a true friend to us all and a perfect Nurse to all sufferers, and of Miss Johnston, whose very beautiful work and entire devotion to the School's interests will be dreadfully missed now that family reasons have obliged her to take a non-resident post.

We welcome to the School Mlle. Colin (French); Miss Aileen Law, A.R.C.A. (Art); Miss E. A. Browne, B.Sc. Hons. (Botany and Mathematics); Miss Raspin (Sister-in-Charge at the Sanatorium); Miss Buckton and Miss P. Churchill (Assistant Matrons).

Miss Le Good is accorded a special welcome as Mistress of the new Kindergarten—our latest and very charming development. The minute tables and chairs, and the pictures hung well below the normal eye-line, afford great pleasure to visitors.

THE HEADMISTRESS'S FUND.

This Fund has received various kind gifts during the year 1931-1932:—

M. J. Drew ...	1	10	0
D. M. Gayer ...		10	0
A. Baron ...	1	0	0	(a twenty-one years' commemoration).
Sale of Coat		10	0

Efforts on the part of the Sixth Form in their Picture-framing industry also recruit this Fund from time to time; and as our Bazaar in the coming Autumn term is to be not only for our Home and Foreign Missions but for our Playing-Field (levelling) Fund, we are trading with £5 of the Bazaar money and hope to do wonders with it. The Centenary Fund is banked at Barclays, Kemp Town, and into that Fund I shall from time to time transfer any gifts to my Fund which are not urgently needed for immediate use. I am unspeakably grateful for all kind help; it does more than the givers know, to ease our task.

THE CENTENARY FUND.

This Fund was proudly opened on June 13th, 1932, by permission of the Governors, the idea being to collect in the next four years as large a sum as we possibly can, and to give the Hall a Corporate Gift, in the shape of everything that can be done to meet the needs of the rapidly-growing School of to-day. Our Old Girls and other friends will during the Autumn of 1932 receive letters about this, and will not mind being reminded that small amounts have a wonderful way of adding up to large totals, and every sixpence is welcome. Gifts and promises may be sent to the Head Mistress.

THE OFFERTORY FUND.

This Fund has helped during the year: The U.G.S.M. (in various ways); The Royal Alexandra Hospital; The Lady Chichester Hospital; The Missions to Seamen; The R.S.P.C.A.; Dr. Barnardo's Homes; The Royal Sussex County Hospital; The Colonial and Continental Church Society; Tidemills; St. Mark's Church (in various ways); and the Lion Banner.

NOVEMBER 3RD—FOUNDER'S DAY.

Each year Founder's Day seems to reach a height that cannot be assailed. This year it left all others far behind and 1932 will have to work very hard if it is to keep up to the standard. The reason for this year's success was largely that November 3rd, 1931, was Miss Ghey's twenty-first Founder's Day at St. Mary's Hall. The applause with which this news was greeted at breakfast showed that the day was bound to be a success of the first rank. We had heard much of the "most distinguished guest" (Field Marshal Sir Claud Jacob) who was to come and give away the prizes and perhaps we were just a little apprehensive. But our fears were quickly dispelled and we found him delightfully human as well as an excellent speaker. We enjoyed his speech very much and were especially glad that whilst telling us, "You can't get on without religion," he also announced that he and Lady Jacob were no advocates of the "good old days." At the end of the afternoon Lady Jacob, an old girl of S.M.H., told us something of the School forty-one years ago.

In the evening there was the usual Founder's Day Service. Archdeacon Sewell, of Bristol, preached on the need for thankfulness from the text, "He is kind to the unthankful."

The day ended with Miss Ghey reading a few extracts from the Life of the Founder. At least, the day did not quite end there. Miss Galton made a speech to Miss Ghey and a gold watch was presented from the School, to try and show, though very inadequately, the feelings of all about Miss Ghey's twenty-one years at St. Mary's Hall. M.R.

PRIZE-GIVINGS.

Field-Marshal Sir Claud Jacob, G.C.B., G.C.S.I., K.C.M.G., was a very welcome guest on Founder's Day, Nov. 3rd, 1931, and he brought with him Lady Jacob, an Old Girl of the Hall, who visited all the Houses, and delighted us with her reminiscences. Colonel Elliott was in the chair at the Prize-Giving, and we had a very large audience for Sir Claud Jacob's friendly and encouraging speech. The Concert was very good, and Festal Evensong, with Canon Sewell for our preacher, closed a very happy day—closed it, that is, officially; but later, when we were all about to leave the Elliott Hall, after the usual dancing and the usual reading from the Founder's Life, an unexpected act of lovely grace crowned the occasion for the writer of this account, who will never forget the generous and beautiful pleasure which lit up the faces in the room, while she tried in vain to find words to say Thank-you for the perfect gift.

The Juniors, having had their Summer term hindered by whooping-cough, could not have a very imposing ceremony for their Prize-Giving; but their charming singing and Percussion-Band work pleased the audience very much. Mrs. Hemming was so good as to distribute the prizes.

HEBBERT HOUSE: THE FIRST CHAPTER.

September, 1931: "All trunks for Hebbert House are to be addressed to the Sanatorium"—such was the purport of an instruction issued to all prospective members of the new House. All? Yes, and all thirty fitted in. The two big wards each held nine, and other rooms five, four and three respectively. Life was both simplified and complicated in our makeshift quarters. Look into one of the big wards—there was a bed, a chair, and usually a washstand for each girl (if there was not room for you to have a washstand you used the bathroom); but there was only one looking-glass and one chest of drawers! Fractions of drawers were duly apportioned among the members of the room. Unpacking saw a somewhat strange procedure. After each girl's belongings had been inspected by the eye of authority, the owner proceeded cheerfully to return most of her property to her trunk, where it spent a care-free existence for the next six weeks. The trunk lived under its owner's bed, and occasionally, it is said, reminded her of its presence by rewarding her with a bump if she turned too vigorously during the night. Not even the House Mistress was bold enough to inspect trunks during those weeks! Dresses attempted to keep themselves uncrushed by finding a home in a curious erection resembling a roofless bathing-tent in the landing recess at the top of the stairs. From two parallel bars depended two serried ranks of coathangers, supporters of a jungle of dresses. It was somewhat of a feat to extract one's frock from the innermost recesses, and one had a glimpse of what it might be like to be buried in dresses.

Thus did we dress and sleep—and thus did we feed. Three times a day, for breakfast, dinner and tea, by a process of compression, we fitted ourselves into the Sanatorium laundry, where trestle tables had been arranged as three sides of a hollow square. Chairs were mostly replaced by benches, to assist in the compression process, and no one could be guilty of sticking out her elbows. Supper we enjoyed in more spacious surroundings at the Hall, also Sunday dinner and tea.

After six weeks of this life, which, it seems, no one did anything but enjoy, and which, as a memory, seems hardly more real than a dream, the day came to move down to Hebbert House, 4, Clarendon Terrace. And quickly the days at the Sanatorium paled to phantom hue before the vigour of the days in the real House.

It was October 31st, 1931.

After a Saturday morning diversified by packing in place of some of the normal occupations of the hour, and an afternoon of "games as usual," "Hebbert" was instructed to foregather in the Studio at 5 p.m., clad for departure, and bearing suitcases containing immediate requirements. Somebody's hat was missing, but, a search proving fruitless, it was decided to smuggle the hatless one down in the dark, and leave Sunday morning to look after itself. And so the moment to go had really come. Miss Ghey bade us all farewell, and we felt like pioneers setting out to found a new settlement. It was dark, and so the more adventurous and mysterious, as we trailed down Chichester Place.

We entered our new quarters impressively by the front door and assembled in the Recreation Room, where there was a short wait. Before long, however, each Prefect had been summoned in turn with the members of her dormitory and shown her new room. Beds were made, and unpacking proceeded so expeditiously that all was finished before supper, for which we returned to the Hall. Miss Ghey paid us a welcome visit later in the evening, and the House went to bed happy in the thought that "Hebbert" was now really established in its own home.

DEDICATION OF HEBBERT HOUSE—NOVEMBER 13TH, 1931.

On November 13th, 1931, in the presence of the whole household, a short service of Blessing for Hebbert House was conducted by the Rev. Canon A. C. W. Rose, assisted by the Rev. H. A. Eyton Jones and the Rev. F. M. Downton. Besides Miss Ghey, the Mistresses, members of the Sixth Form, and the Head Girl of St. Nicholas, there was present a small company of welcome friends, including Lady Barrett-Lennard, Miss Winterbottom, our Vicar, and Mr. and Mrs. Morley.

A day of beautiful sunshine gladdened the occasion for all.

The service included the reading of the lesson (Psalms cxxvii and cxxviii), read by the Founder on April 21st, 1834, when the foundation-stone of St. Mary's Hall was laid, and the blessing of the various rooms in the house to a joyous and useful end. Thus bid God-speed, the youngest member of the family joined with happy confidence the ranks of its predecessors.

CHURCH NEWS.

The Prefects of St. Mary's Hall are now Junior Sidesmen of St. Mark's Church.

The Church Flowers are cared for during February and June, and on the Confirmation Day, by Mistresses and Prefects.

At the Confirmation held by the Bishop of Lewes on Sunday, July 10th, 1932, 26 girls were presented. Bishop Horder and our Vicar came to meet Parents and Friends at tea in the garden afterwards. It was a very lovely day.

A Banner, on which the Lion of St. Mark proudly prances, made as a communal effort by the whole School (thanks to Miss Johnston, who designed and planned the work and made it possible for us to do it), is being completed during the Old Girls' Week-End and will be made up at the Royal College of Art Needlework.

EASTER, 1932.

A special word should be put in this News-Letter about Easter at School. Good Friday was a lovely and quiet day. In the evening Miss Ghey showed, with a magic lantern, everyone's favourite pictures and some of her own Oberammergau pictures.

Easter Eve was marked by the performance of "Thy Kingdom Come," of which a special account is given.

Easter Day was perfect. In the evening we had a Concert and sang Easter hymns.

Altogether Easter time at School combined that quiet happiness and great rejoicing which give a gladness that it is not possible to describe.

"THY KINGDOM COME."

On Easter Eve Miss Ghey and certain members of the Hall Houses presented us with the charming Easter play, "Thy Kingdom Come." It was very beautifully acted and made a deep impression upon us. It is impossible to describe adequately the rough and manly soldiers, with their puzzled attempts to understand and make clear all that had happened on the previous day. The children made a charming note as they came with their offerings of flowers and praise, and the contrast between the doubt of the soldiers and the joyously positive faith of the children was very striking. The whole play was a fitting and very beautiful preparation for the next day.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS UNION.

As a result of Miss Walters' wonderfully interesting talk on the League of Nations on November 15th, the School decided that it was time that it took a more active interest in the League. Therefore a junior branch of the League of Nations Union was formed in the Easter Term. One hundred and thirty-three members joined immediately, and five more in the Summer term.

The branch is, as yet, feeling its way rather cautiously, and no startlingly brilliant achievements have been made. But it does not stand still. At the end of the Easter Term the first general meeting was held. It consisted chiefly of hastily got up, but surprisingly successful theatricals, representing League activities. In the Summer term the middle group of the branch held a Model Assembly, at which an encouraging knowledge of contemporary events was shown. On the last day of term, the junior group held a meeting, to which the whole branch was invited. The three speeches made by junior members gave promise of some very keen and active work in the future.

It is to be hoped that the branch will take firm root in the School and do some really useful and successful work as it grows older. We give it all our good wishes and hope that it will become a real force in the future.

CADETS.

At the beginning of the year eight recruits joined the Cadet Company, making a total of twenty-six. Throughout the year we have been working for our Tenderfoot, Second and First Class badges respectively. Four Cadets passed their First Class.

In the Christmas Term, instead of our usual party we decided to collect money for Christmas hampers. In order to raise the money we acted two short plays to the School—"The Great Detective," and "Five Birds in a Cage." All honour must be paid to Miss Gillett for her stage management and her helpfulness in obtaining clothes.

The last night of Term we took round twelve gaily coloured hampers (containing such things as fruit, flour, biscuits, etc.), with the kind help of Mr. Walker, a push-cart and a lantern. Mrs. Walker and one of the mistresses of St. Mark's Schools had given us the names and addresses of people who were in real need of Christmas provisions. Great was their delight at receiving such an unexpected pleasure.

Also that Term we attended the annual Guide Service at St. Peter's Church, and carried the County Standard.

In the Spring Term the Leaders and Seconds were taken to hear a talk on Guiding at the Pavilion. Lady Jennings especially emphasized the need for originality in Guiding; so that when she and Mrs. Gordon Watson came to enrol the Guides as Cadets we had to put our heads together to think of something original with which to entertain them.

One item of the programme was kept secret even from the Cadets, and great was their surprise when a car (an orange-box on four wheels) rushed into the Elliott Hall at 60 m.p.h., followed by a motor cycle, which forced it to collide into a brick wall (two drill benches) and burst into flames. After the occupants had been rescued, the Cadets were told to draw up a report of the accident. Another item which Lady Jennings had not seen before was the Boat Race. The evening concluded with a talk by Mrs. Gordon-Watson on her work in the Whitehawk District.

In the middle of the Summer term the Guide Movement celebrated its twenty-first birthday. There was a Church Parade at St. Peter's Church, at which the Cadets carried the District Colours. Lady Jennings took the salute during the march past.

On Half-Term Saturday a Pageant was held in the Pavilion Gardens to celebrate the Guide coming-of-age. A few of the Cadets helped Lady Barrett-Lennard with teas.

Also this term Miss Ghey invited all the Guides in the School to a Guide Rally in the garden. Forty-five Guides came and we spent an enjoyable evening with them, running patrol competitions, consisting of finding wild flowers, guessing and tying knots, and tracking. The evening was concluded with camp songs.

With Miss Miles' kind help ten Cadets passed Child Nurse. We have also to thank her for giving up part of her time to play Irish jigs for us on Friday nights; and Miss Meyrick for coming to help us with trees during her week-ends down here. Also Miss Gillett's sister, who kindly came and tested the Cadets for Heights, Weights and Distances, for their First Class: twenty passed.

Miss Gillett has very kindly arranged a Camp again for us this year at Belmont, in Kent, where the Cadets had such a lovely time last year. Twenty-three are going altogether, including five Old Girls.

In conclusion, we wish to thank Miss Gillett for all that she has done for the Cadets. She has now been captain of the 2nd Brighton Cadets for five years, and we hope she will continue to be so for many years to come.

THE CADET ENTERTAINMENT.

On December 11th the Cadets gave us an entertainment, consisting of two short plays, which caused us much amusement.

The first play, "The Great Detective," was cleverly adapted by Joyce Simmons from the book. Joyce Simmons made a brilliant detective, and her secretary, Elizabeth Burton, had equally astounding ideas. The Archbishop and the Prime Minister must be commended for their miraculous appearances, and the cosmopolitan ladies for their admiration of the "dog."

The second, longer play, was acted in such a way that it both amused us and showed us the character study in the play. Esmé Stewart showed what a bickering wife she would have been to Betty Ryan, and her socialistic principles did not survive a practical test. Monica Luffman and Rosemary Poyser gave us an example of love at first sight. Barbara Barton was a typical lift-man, who refused to leave his post; and Betty Ryan was very "shaken about" by the erratic movements of the lift. The scene was made more realistic by the lift-shaft, which was skilfully designed by Mr. Walker.

The result of the magnificent entertainment was that twelve Christmas hampers were sent to Whitehawk Road Estate; almost as surprising an appearance, in the houses to which they were sent, as that of the Prime Minister and the Archbishop on the stage at St. Mary's Hall.

PLAYS.

"IPHIGENIA IN TAURIS."

On December 11th, 1931, the senior members of the School were invited by Miss Gulick to a performance of Gilbert Murray's English version of the "Iphigenia in Tauris" of Euripides.

Very few of us had already enough Classical learning to venture to watch the performance without having some instilled into us beforehand, and we were therefore very grateful for, and interested in, the short sketch of the story of "Iphigenia" which Miss Robinson kindly gave us in the Reading Room earlier in the evening.

The stage was hung with dark green curtains only, and the lights were lowered. The performers entered up the sides of the Hall, and everything possible was done to introduce into a modern School building some, at least, of the atmosphere of the Greek theatre.

The small cast and the chorus were all excellent, and special mention must be made of Barbara Bedford as Iphigenia, and Esmé Stewart and Kathleen Chambré as Orestes and Pylades.

The dresses, which were kindly lent by Roedean School, were all very good, but the prize must be awarded to the marvellous head-dress of Pallas Athene, in which we were hardly able to recognize Maureen Watson.

This was the first time the School had attempted to reproduce a Greek tragedy, and our hearty congratulations are offered to Miss Gulick and the Elocution pupils, together with our hopes that they will soon present another.

"THE PERFECT MARRIAGE" AND "MAKE-BELIEVE."

Miss Galton and Snowdon Smith seem determined to show us the variety of their talents. Not content with giving us three years running, "Milestones," "Marigold," and "Make-believe," they added this year a curtain-raiser of yet a different type.

"The Perfect Marriage" was the story of how a young married couple lost both temper and composure over a book written earlier by the husband, suggesting that husbands and wives should be candid about each other's faults. Did we sympathize most with the tears of Hilary Fanshawe (Esmé Stewart) when she reaped a parody of all feminine failings as the reward of pushing too unwisely for a reminder of her imperfections; or with the somewhat self-righteous indignation of Jack Fanshawe (Margaret Gray) when the same weapon turned against himself? I am afraid that the character of the audience gave Esmé an unfair start, which she held admirably against Margaret's vigorous and telling acting.

"Make-believe" is a delightful fancy carried out with charming lightness. It was acted with the skill that it deserved. Jill Stebbing, as Rosemary, needed all James' help in quelling the very naturally boisterous Hubbard family, and carried out with magical success his sage advice as to inspiration.

The manly woodcutter seemed even worthy of being the one man to be made "very, very happy" by gaining the fairy princess, in spite, alas, of having never had time to read any history. The three princes (M. Davies, B. Moore, E. Cassidy) gave a striking display of how unpleasing they could be, each in a different fashion. The queen (Nora Burden) seemed more fitted for ruling the over-awed monarch (H. Gibson) than for whining for bread, which, however, she did with extraordinary success. All her failings may be pardoned, for capacity for gratitude as well as wine.

Molly Darroll Smith, as Oliver, became the small boy with a complete success that seemed effortless; while Jill (C. Sangster) was worthy to be his partner in adventure. The scenery told us at once that it was just the sort that we have always been looking for. If we had not been so captivated by the Pirate chief and his valiant crew, we could not but have sympathized with the innocent, trembling Miss Pinniger (Naomi Josling), left by herself a little while to entertain a beautiful but rather unconventional Dusky Princess. Jill developed into a most capable hostess and manager of a deplorable servant who bore an unexpected resemblance to Aunt Jane (Jean Taylor). The minor characters carried out their parts with effectively minute detail.

Our enjoyment could only have been increased by one addition—that we should all have been allowed to go to both performances. But, so popular were the plays that the Hall was filled each night, and the Centenary Fund became the richer by £15.

"TILLY OF BLOOMSBURY."

Those who witnessed the plays produced by Miss Bolton in Babington, and Miss Smith in Hervey, were prepared for something good when the curtain rose on "Tilly of Bloomsbury"; nor were they disappointed. With the threefold advantage of the genius of Miss Bolton for stage-managing, of Miss Smith for costume-designing and make-up, and of the actors for acting, it would have been surprising if the play had not been a success. Monica Luffman as Tilly made a charming heroine and gained all our sympathies. We never realized what sentimentalists we were until we found ourselves nearly in tears after the disastrous end of the Welwyn's tea-party. Dick Mainwaring, the handsome hero (Marian Armitage) deserved a lot of sympathy on account of his family, who, with the exception of a very much hen-pecked father, were wholly detestable. We writhed at the mentions of Lady Marion's "mother's heart," and longed for someone to sit very hard on Sylvia. Connie Damer is to be heartily congratulated on her efforts in this direction. On the other hand, we loved all the Welwyn family, who did their best to help on Tilly's cause, though with little success. We felt that "Perce" would have done better not to have spilt the cakes over Sylvia; and the ingenious devices of Mr. Welwyn (who could be distinguished from Mr. Mainwaring only by his clothes) to create an impression of wealth might have had better results in other hands than those of the—to us—wholly delightful Mr. Stillbottle, whose socks, together with Percy's jersey, furnished the "purple patches" of the plot. As to Mrs. Banks—we have never seen or heard anything so realistically and hatefully octogenarian as Margaret Stanham's performance. Our heartiest congratulations to Miss Bolton, Miss Smith, and all the performers, and please—we want some more—soon!

"MR. PIM PASSES BY."

On February 6th Bristol House kept us enthralled with a performance of "Mr. Pim Passes By," by A. A. Milne. Bunchie Hockley forgot she was an old girl and came back to give us a most convincing representation of a dear, absent-minded, old Mr. Pim. Mary Wade and Peggy Smee were very good in their parts as the married couple; Mary seemed so frightened of the "publicity" of it all. Julia Wilberforce and Betty Flinn acted the "newly-engaged couple" in a most realistic way, and we hope none of us has quite such a forbidding masculine maiden "Aunt Julia" as Barbara Bedford. By his absent-mindedness Mr. Pim caused extraordinary situations, and we all were really worried, wondering if Mary and Peggy would have to get married again!

(Right wing).
- B. RYAN **. She works hard in the field, but is too slow in picking up passes both in the field and circle.
- N. BURDEN *. Very much improved in the Spring term. With increased speed, and more accurate shooting she will be a good forward.

TENNIS.

CRITICISMS.

1st Couple { M. OLIVER (Capt.). Her net play and volleying need developing,
                   S. SENIOR. but her ground shots are often very effective.
                                   Stella is a very fair all-round player. With more care for her footwork and greater speed she would make a strong opponent.
 2nd Couple { M. ELLIOTT. She must work for a better length, which should
                   J. GODDARD. make her whole game more effective.
                                   Her style is good. With sound practice and determination to be less erratic she should go far.
 3rd Couple { B. EDWARDS. She attaches too little importance to footwork and
                   E. STEWART (Vice-Capt.). is slow at the net. She has a good length forehand drive.
                                   Her play is improving, but she still needs more power behind her drives to enable her to play an attacking game.

IN MEMORIAM.

HAZEL MARY ADENE REYNOLDS.

Born July 11, 1913. Entered S.M.H. Sept., 1929.

Left S.M.H. July, 1931. Entered into Rest May 16, 1932.

We said good-bye to Hazel Reynolds after her two happy years with us, very sad at losing her, but very glad to think that as a Probationer at the Royal Alexandra Hospital for Sick Children she would still be near enough to visit the School; and a welcome visitor indeed she was. But her work among the little sufferers whom she loved so much was not to be long, and she died on a May evening, after a brief illness, in the Hospital where she was working. Her School friends attended the Funeral Service at St. John's Church, Hove, and the gardener made beautiful wreaths with flowers from the Hall garden.

If her school-days left so bright a memory with us, who knew her for only that short time, the emptiness for those who had watched with love over all her life must be terribly hard to bear. Her school-life was marked by a grave and candid sweetness which to those looking back on it shows as singularly beautiful:

In small proportions we just beauties see;
And in short measures life may perfect be.

 MARGARET ISABEL HUNT.

Margaret Hunt received her early education at the Hall, her father being then Headmaster of Bancroft's School and later Rector of St. Michael's, Cornhill. She eventually proceeded to Newnham College as one of its first students, passing out with honours, to devote her life to teaching.

At Tewkesbury for 27 years she was Headmistress of a School which took its place among the best in the county of Gloucester. Both at Tewkesbury and during the nine years of her retirement at Worthing she was a devoted Church worker, and it is said of her that she always cared for others before herself, and set a wonderful example.
